Application

The faculty of the Department of Counseling Psychology and Human Services are offering funding for travel that involves presentation of student research with ethnic and racial minority communities and immersion experiences that include student service and learning about the intersection of race/ethnicity and access to socioeconomic resources.

Applications are due to Hillary Nadeau in Counseling Psychology and Human Services, 2nd floor HEDCO Education Building by 5:00pm on Dec 7, 2012.

Purpose: This support is offered to defray costs associated with (a) the presentation of student research at professional conferences/forums and (b) travel and housing accommodations for student immersion experiences. Support offered will depend on fund availability.

Award: $100-$500. These support funds must be expended within one year of receipt for costs associated with travel and housing.

Eligibility: Applicants must be fulltime graduate students with good academic standing (B or better grade point average; academic program evaluations satisfactory) in the Counseling program.

Research Travel Application: Applicants must prepare and submit:

1. A two-page, single-spaced, description of research proposal (i.e., research question(s), importance of the research, research design and methodology, anticipated outcomes, and plan for dissemination [e.g., list target conferences for presenting and journals for publishing your research findings])
2. A one-page budget: summary of how the funds will be used to support the proposed research.
3. A list of the funding mechanisms for which the applicant has already submitted applications and will submit in the future.
4. Unofficial copy of UO transcripts/ May print from DuckWeb account.

Immersion Experiences Travel Application: Applicants must prepare and submit:

1. A one-page, single-spaced, description of the location and nature of the student immersion experience; purpose for student immersion experience and relevance to academic training and/or career goals; how the immersion experience will enhance student’s understanding of the intersection of race/ethnicity and social class; and proposed outcomes or plans for applying immersion experience to further learning and service after it is over.
2. A one-page budget: summary of how the funds will be used to support the immersion experience and what costs are already covered by other funding sources.
