University of Oregon
Doctorate of Education (DEd)

Educational Methodology, Policy, and Leadership (EMPL)

EMPL offers a DEd using a state-of-the-art virtual delivery system. The system blends real-time interaction with faculty, students, and online content that enables faculty and students to present and collaborate virtually using any computer or mobile device. This system facilitates media-rich content and document sharing and allows students to work in virtual break-out groups. Through this system, our students can access the DEd program from anywhere in the US.

EMPL’s DEd enables its graduates to:

- Improve K-12 student learning performance & progress
- Improve effectiveness of professional practice
- Enhance building/district capacity and capabilities
- Cultivate and sustain professional communities of practice
- Advance professional knowledge and analytical expertise

Application deadline: March 27, 2017

To receive the doctorate, students must complete at least 144 credits, at least 96 of which must be earned after admission to the program.

New scholarships are available!

Contact: Angela Burham
Student Services Coordinator

Physical Address: 102 Lokey Education
Mailing Address: 5267 University of Oregon
Eugene, OR 97403
P: (541) 346-1492
E: burham@uoregon.edu
https://education.uoregon.edu/program/educational-leadership-ded

The DEd at the University of Oregon’s department of Educational Methodology, Policy, and Leadership leads the state.

Distinct Program Features

- Cutting-edge virtual delivery
- Accessible from anywhere in Oregon
- Designed and scheduled to suit the lives of professional educators

Three concentrations:

- Equity Leadership
- Literacy Leadership
- Policy & Leadership

Three dissertation options:

- Scholarly article
- Grant proposal
- Policy analysis

Three leaders in their fields:

- Dr. Charles Martinez, Jr. (Equity)
- Dr. Gina Biancarosa (Literacy)
- Dr. Michael Bullis (Policy & Leadership)